

Futures:

Careers in teaching event

Wednesday 13th December 2017, start 5pm

5pm	Arrival and registration
5.15pm	Welcome: Jackie Moores, Principal, Clarendon Sixth Form College
5.20pm	Introduction: Jennie Arnold, Head of Centre, Clarendon Sixth Form College
5.25pm	Jack Harding, PGCE student
5.40pm	Mr Keith Parry OBE, former teacher of ICT
6.00pm	Mr Drew Duncan, Executive Headteacher, Droylsden Academy and Mossley Hollins High School
6.20pm	Samantha Bishop, Teacher of Business
6.30pm	Mr Sam Parr, Primary Teacher, Oakfield Academy
6.50pm	Question and answers
7pm	Close

Jack Harding

Jack achieved 11 GCSEs at school before progressing to sixth form to study A Levels in Physics, Chemistry and Maths. He achieved A*, A and A. Following his A Levels, Jack progressed to a degree with integrated masters at university and then enrolled on a PGCE programme with the ambition of becoming a teacher.

Mr Keith Parry OBE

A teacher for over 35 years, Keith Parry has worked in various roles in schools across Tameside. In 2000 he received an OBE for services to education in the Manchester area. For many years Keith was responsible for the development and oversight of numerous schemes and programmes in schools.

Mr Drew Duncan

Mr Duncan began his teaching career, having studied his degree at Glasgow University and his PGCE at the University of East Anglia. Drew has had many senior roles within schools including Deputy Head at Failsworth School. Currently, Mr Duncan is the Executive Headteacher across two Tameside Schools: Droylsden Academy and Mossley Hollins High School.

Samantha Bishop

Samantha has been using her qualifications and skills gained through teaching to travel the world working with numerous organisations. From teaching homeless children in Nepal to working with disabled adults in rural India, Samantha now enjoys bringing a global dimension in to her classroom, lecturing business.

Mr Sam Parr

Sam studied at Audenshaw High School before pursuing a career in teaching. Sam studied at sixth form and progressed to Leeds Metropolitan University. He then continued to work towards a PGCE in primary education. Sam is now a primary teacher at Oakfield Academy.